Customer Reviews

Alice Cobble Henry has written an enlightening account of Christian missionary activity in the former Belgian Congo from 1932 to 1956. This is an excellent resource for understanding what daily life was like for the white missionary and the Congolese people. The author went to the Congo in 1932, accompanied by her parents, to marry Robin Cobble who had been laboring there for two years. Together they ministered to the Congolese people, providing medical care and schools. They raised four children there and Robin Cobble's earthly remains were buried there in 1956.
